DIEHL Metering

Authorized Dealer

Diehl Metering presents the HYDRUS, a precise, lead-free brass ultrasonic smart water meter suitable for residential, commercial, and industrial use.

Diehl "Smart" Metering Solutions

The display on the HYDRUS meter provides various information loops. For instance, when you see the value "123.456" with an arrow pointing to "M₃," it represents the total volume of water consumed, which will reflect on your bill.

Experience the New Era of Prefabricated Construction

Prefabricated Construction has become increasingly popular and is now at the forefront of construction. With the rising demand for these modern marvels, you will save time and money. Like traditional built, these solutions do not compromise the durability, aesthetics, and functionality of your project. We specialize in providing 'prefab' construction solutions for all types of development projects and we will take care of sourcing and managing the logistics involved from start to finish.
